In reply to John Russell Young's charge that northern gentlemen are excluded from Southern Society a Richmond correspondent shows that Richmond has been amazingly clever in that regard. A northern man that went there at the head of a negro regiment has not only married "the belle of the city" but his house is flocked to by all the "society" people of the place. The main trouble north coms to be that our young clerks won't court the yankee schoolmarms. The police should look to this, destined to be a large city. How encouraging This case has been argued before the Supreme Court this week. It will be remembered as the case in which the plaintiff's complaint made such wild charges against the Legislature, which charges were so promptly refuted by Jno. M. Moring, Esq., Maj. J. C. McRae and others, and shown to be groundless. The amount actually involved is only some six hundred dollars and the interest in the sait arises merely from the charges of corruption in the Legislature. By an ordinance of the Convention, March 11, 1868, the State loaned the Chatham Railroad $1,200,000 in State Bonds, (not in money) and agreed to receive repay-ment in like amount of State Bonds at any time within 30 years, and to secure repayment, took mortgage bonds of the railroad as collateral. A Jan'y term, 1873, the Supreme Court issued a mandamus to the Treasure to receive any valid State Bonds issued before March 11th, 1868. Under this mandamus $900 000 of Bonds and interest were repaid the State To repay the remaining $300,000 the Rail Road tender d $270,000 of un-questioned Bonds and $80,000 of internal improvement Bonds i. e. Bonds issued during 1861-162 under Acts passed before the war, and not for war purposes. This was met by Judge Kerr which not only enjoined the acceptance of the $30,000 luterna improvement Bonds, but stopped the mandamus of the Supreme Court in toto. Now as the $30,000 internal im-provement Bonds are, we are reliably told, only two cents in the dollar under the price of other Bonds, the difference to the Rail Road is $600. The difference to the State is nil, all valid bonds belog the same value to the State. The validity of this class of bonde has been recognized by three Treasurers and eight Acts of the Legislature. This injunction is based upon an allegation of irregularity in the passage of one only of the Acts (House Bill 422) which allegation even if true can not be enquired into by the Court without going behind the signature of the Speakers of the Legislature. The allegation in fact is unfounded and the whole fling is

THE WEEKLY NEWS is the cheapest paper published in North Carolina. It is only one dollar per year, postage paid, contains 32 columns of plain printed news from every section of the country, and important advertisements. Always Cash.

More failures, more failures-across the water, and at home. When is the good time coming? Is the ghost of Jay Cooke's crime never to be laid?

No money is in the treasury to print "money," and a currency famine is threatened. The threat comes too late. The country is famished already. Turn loose what is locked up, and the printing bureau may lie idle for a year to come.

THE Wilmington Star asks the News by what authority the announcement was made that the State Democratic Convention would meet on the 21st of June? There was no authority for there is no such determination. The Convention referred to was the National Democratic Convention, and was the substance of a telegraphic dispatch inadvertently transferred to the local columns.

JOURNALISTIC.

We have received the first number of the Johnston Courier published in is neatly printed, is Democratic in politics and will no doubt be a valuable organ for the party and an acceptable journal to our neighbors of Johnston.

Mr. S. C. Woodburn informs us that he will soon begin the publication in Durham of the Durham Herald a Democratic paper. We welcome all such and wish them success. It may be a good sign of the prosperity of our great manufacturing town that it demands the publication of two newspapers,

WESTERN N. C. R. R.

The Wilmington Journal gets some information from Mr. Cannady, one of the commissioners, recently returned from the head of the road. He says the contract for the completion of the Swananoa tunnel has been perfected with Mr. James W. Wilson and the tunnel will be completed by the first of next January.

This tunnel is near the top of the gap and is one hundred and twenty feet below the surface at its lowest point of depression. It will be nineteen hundred feet long, and between six and seven hundred feet are already completed. This is by far the most formidable obstacle to overcome. The construction of the rest of the

THE Specie Resumption Act, if unrepealed, will stand on the statute books against the protest of both parties outside of Congress. The resolution in the Indiana Republican plat form deprives that party entirely of the claim to be the simon-pure advocates of hard money. That plank declares that "it is the duty of the government in furnishing currency so to regulate it as to provide for its ultimate redemption in gold and silver; that any attempt to hasten this period more rapidly than brought about by the laws of trade and commerce is inexpedient; therefore so much of the so-called Resumption Act as fixes the time for resuming specie payments should be repealed."

The position of the Republ.cans of so important a State as Indiana, representing, as it does, the sentiment currency question into a common arena. Neither party can claim to be the sole champion of any particular measure. Therefore the folly of permitting any division of the Democratic party on this subject, or making inflation or contraction the test of fidelity. The Republicans have the same diversities among themselves.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

The Wilmington Journal, in view of the coming campaign, says "it will be wise for us, instead of delaying by the wayside in unnecessary criticism upon our own party, to devote our whole time and our whole energies to assaults upon the enemy." The tendency in national politics is for the Democratic party to fritter away its strength in advocacy of abetractions and in the support of pet theories, and in State politics, to divide upon persons and prejudices. With the magnitude of Republican subjects of assault and with their defiant determination to defend them, the Democrats will have all they can do to carry them by the most perfect union and concentration of purpose. Division will result us ignominious defeat, which the party, as a party, will deserve for its folly, but which the people will not forgive, because the last chance of relief was foolishly thrown away.

As the Journal says "it is time for as to think seriously of these things.

A NATIVE RHENISH WINE. The Wilmington Journal acknow ledges the receipt and the excellency of a sample of Rhenish wine from a vine-yard in Cleaveland county. The Journal says "the wine is a revelation of the Hock-growing possibilities of North Carolina. It resembles the wines of the lower Rhine, (with rather more body,) is of fine fruity, flavor, smooth, dry, and unmistakably pure." Some of these days, this State will rank high among the wine producing countries. The section in which, Cleaveland county lies is well adapted to the production of light wines; which the eastern part of the State is the region for the scuppernon, which, where its management is better unlerstood or more scientifically conducted, will produce a wine that will bring it into demand everywhere. There has been a great improvement in the manufacture of scuppernong wine within the last ten years. It was once, and is now to a great extent, conducted on the rude plan of making cider, and left to work out its fate without farther trouble. But this rude system is passing away where it is found that the scupper nong wine has substantial merit, and that it pays to take some pains in making it.

WE have said repeatedly that it were unwise in the extreme for the Democratic party to stake its cause upon the financial issue as the great question of the Presidential campaign. That, although a tremendously important one, is involved in the general subject of Republican politics, which it ought to be the purpose of the Democrats to overthrow Wha'ever system of finance the Democrats might succeed in carrying out, they will have gained nothing at all if they leave the administration of it to the Republican party. Southern men more particularly should avoid wedding themselves to any pet theory. Such things are fruitless Smithfield by Mr. S. F. Gardner. It abstractions to the South unless accompanied with the substantial fruits of Democratic victory. The Southern Congressman ought not to forget, under the seducements of theory, the dread realities from which the South has only in part escaped. It is only half released from the rapacious clutches of the carpet-bagger; it is only half freed from the iron grip of military despotism; it is only half permitted the enjoyment of civil liberty . it is only half secured in th exercise of its rights of liberty and

> It was by a partial recovery of these rights that the Southern States are enabled to present so able and reputable a representation on the floors of the present Congress. And the South will not be patient with her representatives if they forget the things that most concern her inter ests and go astray in the pursuit of abstractions or puerilities.

THE BABCOCK ACQUITTAL. The public mind was prepared to hear a verdict of not guilty rendered in a case where the accused was so closely connected with the President of the United States as to be one of his family. The will of the President, so powerful to make or to pull down, was sufficient suggestion to the Judge to frame a charge fruitful of indulgent pretexts for a willing jury to lean to the side of mercy. It has been conceded for some time past that Judge Dillon held the fate of the accused in his own hards, and that his instructions would determine the question of his freedom or his in-charge. The Judge reminded the Jury "that the government owed a duty to its citizens as well as to the revenue, and that it was in the province of the jury to acquit as well as convict." These are truisms as plain to the apprehension of the jury as to that of the Judge. The emphasis with which they were announced amounts almost to an instruction to acquit. The contra-position of the duty to citizens and the revenue puts the latter in contemptuous insignificance when the rights of the private secretary are weighed against public in terests. It was not so when Avery, Joyce, McDonald and McKee were put on trial. Then the course of justice seemed to have been run with fearful impartiality. And from the testimony adduced against Babcock a dispassionate public opinion will be very apt to assign him to the same cuipability as those who were indisputably proved his confederates in erime. Babcock comes out of the ordeal a free man but by no means an unscorched one. JUSTICE ABOUT TO BE DONE. The committee on Pensions on Wednesday reported a bill granting nensions to the soldiers of the Mexican, Florida and Black Hawk wars. In the two former wars the chief ctors were Southern men. The Florida war was one of hard labor and ceaseless contest with a concealed savage, a war without glory and without that brilliancy which to many is a compensation for toil and wounds. But it secured to the nation the peaceful use of territory which in our day is developing into one of the most fruitful and attractive parts of the country. The Mexican war, fought on foreign soil, was really a brilliant episode in soldier life, bringing fame to the officers through a magnificent series of victories, and bringing permanent wealth to the country by the acquisition of territory the richest in the world it mineral wealth, and suddenly unfolding an empire in extent and resources along the Pacific coast. The officer had his reward in glory, and in promotion. But the private soldier! To this day, the real instruments of this stupendous work have been neglected, forgotten, thrown aside as useless tools whose work was done and whose use was passed. The majority of the Mexican conquerors was composed of Southern soldiers. It was the fate of many of them subsequently to be involved in another war, with motives quite as pure as that which led them to foreign onquest. The result of this last war left them with the taint of rebellion upon them, effaced all memory of their former services, and leaves them in their old age, many of them mark ed with their wounds or enfeebled with the diseases of Mexico, helpless and powerless.

Too little of that charge has come to us to authorize censure or criticism. Only one single seutence was telegraphed, but that seems to furnish a key to the animus of the whole

If there is that magnamity in the North which is so often obtruded upon Southern attention, now is the time to exercise it. Forget the part the Mexican veteran took in the war of the rebellion, if they so choose to call it, and only remember that once he raised the military character of the United States to a height it never before reached, and won for the nation a territory which, added to what it before possessed, promises to make it the grandest empire on the face of the globe.

A RING CONTRACTOR.

The Marvellous Prosperity of One of

Boss Sheperd's Friends. The history of R. C. Hewitt, whose operations as a middleman between contractors and the Board of Audit have just been brought to light through the investigations of the Committee on the District of Columbia, is interesting as an example of the way in which the hangers-on of the Ring in this city have been enabled to feather their nests at the public expense. Hewitt settled in Washington during the war. Prior to that he had acted as freight conductor on the B. & Obio Realfroad. Securing a small brick building on Seventh street, he a small scale. Afterward he formed a partnership with his brother inlaw, a straightforward unsuspecting man, who had a few thousand dollars which resulted disastrously-to the brother-in-law. His next specula-tion was in partnership with Tom Lewis, a bricklayer as contractor for the Boss Sheperd Ring. Among the jobs secured by this worthy pair was the centract to pave Ninth street, was done is well known to every citizen of Washington. This little affair is said to have netted in the neighborhood of $100,000. A numter were done by the same firm Being one of Shepherd's confidential men, Hewitt was enabled to get any job of paving or grading that he cov-

ed in a separation of the high-toned partners. Since then Hewitt has carried on his nefarious business against the petty contractors and District Government by the connivance and as sistance of various papers directly connected with the District Commissioners, as has been shown in the pending investigations. Since Hew-itt's connection with the ring thieves he has accumulated a large fortune, variously estimated at from $250,000 to $500,000. He lives in extravagant style and takes the air from behind high priced horses in a thousand dol-ar carriage, with liveried driver. We hear on all hands that the Texas delegation is one of the very best in the House. The Legislature ust chosen in Texas has to elect s United States Senator, and we earnestly hope that the State may make there an equally good mark. Noth-ing could have been better for the ing could have been better for the real interests of the South and of the whole country, as well as for elevating the character of the Senate itself, than the late choice of Col. Lamar from Mississippi. Texas should send a man as true, as manly and as capable as Lamar. His character and his antecedents, no less than his talent, should be such as to give him standing and influence at once in the Senate. The time has passe when men of ultra views from at section can accomplish good in that body. Mere bitter partisans in pub-lic life should give place to statesmen whose national views enable them to act for the whole country unbiased by other considerations. Perhaps Texas may have many such We do not know. She has certainly now in the House one such—Jadge Hancock—and his election would be regarded as evidence that the people of that State desire to harmonize with the only feeling that can give peace and prosperity to the country.

The Drying Rivers of Europe.

It is a well known fact that, as the settlement of a country becomes general, and the forests are cleared, or the open country brought into civilization, the effect is quickly een in the diminished water supply of rivers during the Summer. In Europe, this diminished water supply is yearly more and more felt tion is again called to the subject in Austria, and a circular, ac companied with a report, has been addressed to the scientific societies of Europe, by the Vienna Academy of c'ence, inviting them to unite in observations for the determination of the causes of the decrease of the water in springs, rivers, and watercourses. For a certain number of years, the vaters of the Danube and other large rivers have been diminishing. The Austrian Engineer's and Architects Union have taken up the same que tion, and have appointed a Hydrostatic Commission to collect facts and prepare a report. Two members will observe the Danube, the Elbe, and the Rhine; and two others will study the meteorology of the subject, an the influence that the Alpine glacier aud torrents may bear upon it.

I am not going into the detail of the care of dairy cows, but will lay down one general principle. This I think, if carried out in the minutia, will secure the desired end. This principle is this : In everything consult so far as possible, the comfort of the cow. Let all the arrangements that appertain to her keeping, such as food, drink, shelter, treatment and general management be such as shall tend to her comfort and qu'et; then, and not till then, can we asonably look for the best results. The question of feed for the dairy cow is so important that I trust you will pardon me for taking time to urge it upon your attention. Breed is important, but feed much more so. Persons about engaging in dairying look over the reports from this association or read the report from omedairy in the agricultural papers. They see so many cows kept, and from them so much money made, and they seem to forget all the rest. They go on and get the required number of cows, and when the end of the year comes they are obliged to divide the profits by two for the eason that they have not well con-Many men (I will not say dairymen) seem to think anything is good enough for a cow, the warm side of a rail fence good enough shelter, and chance to feed at the straw-stack, with an occasional dressing of marsh hay and a chance to run in the standing corn stalks, good enough care and feed for the cow. They seem to feel that grain fed cows is almost thrown away. The orses and hors must have all the grain, and leave the cows to take care themselves. These are, in my pinion, very mistaken notions, for costs only a little more to keep a w well than in the manner I have escribed. Indeed, it costs only a ttle more to keep a cow upon grain han upon hay. Example:-It will ake one acre of good grass to furnish winter fodder for a cow. The same acre, if planted to corn and properly cultivated, will not only furnish winter fodder, but will furnish grain enough, if fed with the stalks in winter and the pasturage in summer, to give us a good flow of make during the entire milking season, while the sustain the animal life.

"The difference of cost, then, in he two methods of feeding, is the lifference of expense in raising an acre of grass and an acre of corn. We ave the same investment for land and it is only the difference in labor, and when we strike the balance be weer the cost and profit, we shall find a large balance in favor of the

A New Food for Horses and Sheep.

A favorite and rather a new kind of mash for horses is coming into use composed of two quarts of oats, one of bran, and half a pint of flax seed. The oats are first placed in the stable bucket, over which is placed the linseed; add boiling water, then the bran, covering the mixture with an old rug, and allowing it to thus rest for five hours, then stir the mass well up. The bran absorbs, while retaining the vapor, and the linseed binds oats and bran toge her; a greater quantity of flax seed would make the preparation too oily and les relished. feed per day is sufficient; it is easily digestible and is specially adapted to young animals, adding to their volume rather than to their height-giving substance to the frame. Professor Sanson reminds us not to overlook the food, in the nourishment question in connection with the amelioration of live stock. He considers oats, as so generally given to sheep, as objectionable, and approaching the unprofitable; rams generally receive one pound of oats daily, ewes half that quantity. Oats forming 'an exciting food, sreespecially suited for rams during the season when they serve, but for hastening the development of young sheep, they only build up the bones, not the flesh. - California Farmer.

Rates of Interest Chargeable in National Banks.

The question of interest chargeable by national banks has been several times before the courts, but it has at last been settled by the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Buffalo against Dearing. The points made were as follows:

1. The rate of interest chargeable each bank is to be that allowed by the law of the State or Territory where the bank is situated.

2. Where by laws of the State or Perritory a different rate is limited or banks of issue organized under the real laws, the rate so limited is alowed for the national banks. Where no rate of interest is fixed the laws of the State or Territory, national banks may charge at a e not exceeding seven per cent. Such interest may be received or aken in advance.

5. Knowingly reserving, receiving charging "a rate of interest greater judged a forfeiture of the interest hich the note, bill orother evidence f the debt carries with it, or which has been agreed to be paid thereon.' 6 If a greater rate has been paid, twice the amount so paid may be recovered back, provided suit be brought within two years from the ime the usurious transaction occur-

The purchase, discount or sale of of exchange payable at another at not more than the current exchange on sight drafts, in the interest, shall not be thered as taking a greater rate of That the national bank act is onstitutional. The court construes the provisions of the act relating to the penalty for taking more than lawful interest, and holds that the plaintiff below was entitled to recover the principal of the note sued upon less the amount of interest unlawfully reserved.

There is a great deal of truth in the old proverb, after all," said a merchant who had just failed for a large amount, as, after settling for ten cents on the dollar, he came out f the bank where he had just been depositing fifty thousand dollars to the credit of his wife. The court docket in Warren. Warrenton Gazette: Up to last night night there were seventy-nine cases on the State Docket, two thirds of which are for larceny, and about one sixth for bastardy.-Several magistrates have not yet made their re-turns: when they do, the number of State cases will be over one hundred. In the civil bu-iness there are thirtyive cases on the trial Docket, and wenty-five on the Appearance Docket, The latter were suits brought at this Court, and will not be tried until the next term.

A chance for relic hunters. Greensboro Patriot: Why don't some relie grabber go out and dig up the Guilford oak and carry it to the big show There is another tree on the roadside between here and Martinsville which has stored away in its trunk a can-non ball, which the British left there when they were paying their iron respects to our fellows. Exactly what's the matter. Milton Chronicle: We gladly chronicle the fact, that many farmers are going to put in a crop of meat and bread this year "just for a change." This is just what is the matter with the country now, and the cause of our ousiness and monetary depression. An over production of tobacco and cotton, and as a matter of course it brings hardly the money it cost to make it. We honestly believe if was no tobacco or cotton aised in this State this year, the outside world would never miss it if he fact was not published.

WHAT THEY THINK OF GRANT. Men who Know what Use the Republican Party has Made of Them.

In West Thirtieth street, about a stone's throw from Broadway, is a small, two-story, dingy brick building, in which is printed weekly the Progressive American, the organ of he one hundred thousand colored citizens of this city and State. The or. John J. Freeman, a middle aged man, of light complexion and leasing counterance, is one of the chief representatives of his race in the North, taking a leading part in all the meetings and conventions. In relation to Senator Bruce's recent speech he said: Bruce speaks, though some of us think it not prudent, and some are afraid to speak so. We do not favor this third-term scheme; that is cerain. The colored people do not think Grant has acted right by them. For my part, I don't like the man any-

"And don't you think Grant will be renominated?" "I certainly do not, though he is no doubt anxious to be."

"But won't the people South prefer Grant another term?" 'No. You people up North think the colored people South are all fools. But you are mistaken. Our smartest men come from the South. And I te I vou hereafter the masses will follow the advice of the leaders of their own race whom they can trust. Rely on it. What does the Republican party care for us? It gave us our freedom you say. Well, the party did that because the Union must be preserved. We were not freed because the Republican party had any particular affection for us. No the balo lecause there were 800,000 votes to be had. The truth is that the Republican party has not done a thing that it has not been actually compelled to do. Policy, policy, policy—that's it. If the Republican party was sincere, the Senate would seat Pinchback—yes, they would have seated him long ago. If Kellogg is the legal Governor of Lou-isiana, Pinchback is the legal Sen-I'll tell you that the Repubback. And another thing, there's the Civil Rights Bill. For one, I never believed it constitutional. But whether constitutional or not, it doesn't matter. If the Republican party thought two years ago that the passage of that bill would strengthen the party, constitutional or uncon-stitutional, Congress would have bassed it. They didn't want to pass it. And yet colored people are Republicans; for the Republicans have, whether they did it for love or not, done about all that has been done for us since the war. I shall be a Republican as long as the party is pro-gressive, and so long as its platform s based on principle?"

"Whom do you favor for President?" Mr. Freeman-Well, there are a great many men spoken of as proba-ble candidates whom I should hate to see elected. I don't want an extreme man. I don't want Grant. I am opposed to a third-term on general principles. Besides, I don't like Grant—I don't like the man. When our committee called upon the Presi dent two years ago in reference to the Civil Rights bills, Grant says to me, Don't have too much confidence in our friend Mr. Sumner." I didn't now what he meant, I looked at him in astonisament. It lessened my regard for Grant-not for Sumner. Bristow is a good man, and would make a good President.—New York
